Two Masai Mara safaris can look identical online and differ masai mara day trip from nairobi by hundreds of dollars Nairobi to Masai Mara safari a night. The variables are camp category, park fees, transport mode and season.

Park fees are charged per person per 24 hours and are often quoted separately. Road transfers in a shared van cost far less than a private 4x4, and flying from Wilson to a Mara airstrip trades money for hours.

Peak season, roughly July to October, carries the highest camp rates because that is migration demand. Green season discounts are real, and the Mara stays excellent for cats outside migration. Ask for an itemised quote through %LINK% covering fees, transfers, meals and conservancy levies before you compare totals.