What is the Limbo Crypto Game?

At its core, Limbo is a simplified, high-speed game of chance popularized by modern-day crypto-casinos (often referred to as "stake video games"). Unlike complex slots with multiple paylines or poker, which requires complex method and psychology, Limbo strips gambling down to its bare basics: a target multiplier and a roll.

The facility is simple:

1. The gamer sets a target multiplier (e.g., 2.0 x, 10x, or perhaps 1,000 x).
2. The player places a wager using a cryptocurrency of their choice (such as Bitcoin, Ethereum, GBPT, or Dogecoin).
3. The game generates a random number.
4. If the produced number is greater than or equivalent to the target multiplier, the player wins. If it falls below, the wager is lost.

The name "Limbo" uses the well-known expression "How low can you go?"-- though in this case, players are typically trying to see how high they can climb.

How Limbo Works: The Mechanics Behind the Screen

The game counts on a combination of server seeds, customer seeds, and nonces to create the outcome.

- Server Seed: Generated by the casino and hashed before the bet is put.
- Customer Seed: Provided by the gamer's web browser (or adjustable by the player).
- Nonce: A number that increases by one with every bet positioned.

Due to the fact that the server seed is concealed behind a cryptographic hash up until the gamer exposes it, the gambling establishment can not control the result after the bet has been put.
