

Flashing, the metal material installed around roof penetrations like chimneys and vents, is a common source of leaks, and Bork Roofing repairs this specific <https://500px.com/p/kh472238joejq> issue throughout Boise. Damaged or improperly installed flashing can allow water to enter around these vulnerable roof penetration points, even when the surrounding shingles remain in good condition. Bork's experienced roofers can identify flashing issues during an inspection and repair or replace the affected sections as part of a targeted, cost effective repair.
