By the end, you'll have a clear understanding of why our business, Glazing 101, is your finest selection for all your glazing needs.

What is Glazing?

Glazing describes the installment of glass in windows or doors. It is a critical part of any type of building, providing all-natural light, thermal insulation, soundproofing, and appearances. The right selection of glazing can significantly affect power performance and resident convenience.

Types of Glazing.

1. Single Glazing: Single glazing consists of a solitary pane of glass. While it is the most basic form of glazing, it supplies marginal insulation, making it less energy-efficient compared to various other alternatives.
2. Dual Glazing: Double glazing includes 2 glass panes separated by an air or gas-filled room. This design supplies far better insulation, reducing warmth transfer through windows and lowering energy prices.
3. Three-way Glazing: Three-way glazing consists of 3 glass panes with several air or gas-filled rooms. It uses premium insulation and soundproofing compared to single or double glazing, making it an outstanding selection for buildings in noisy or extreme weather.
