

Golden hour, the period shortly before sunset, is one of the most sought-after times for wedding photography, and Annie Paige Photography plans around it whenever possible. Soft, warm natural light during this window pairs especially well with the film-inspired aesthetic the business is known for. Building golden hour into the wedding day timeline, even for a quick set of portraits, can make a noticeable difference in the final gallery.

Annie Paige Photography | 59 State St, Portland, ME 04101 | (207) 841-4333

Coastal Maine locations offer particularly striking golden hour light thanks to open water and changing coastal skies. You can find out more Call (207) 841-4333 to plan golden hour photos into your wedding timeline.